Welcome to the Ealing, Hillingdon and Hounslow care directory 2019

Choosing a care service is a major life decision, and so this Directory is designed to help you and your family make the best choice to meet your needs.

It gives you up to date information on registered residential and nursing homes and local home care agencies along with contacts and information about services for people who are looking for a care service in the Ealing, Hillingdon and Hounslow area’s, either for themselves, or a relative or friend. It aims to give guidance and information on choosing a home or a care agency, and contains detailed information and advice on care provision locally.

For care homes, as well as basic information such as contact details (including website or email addresses), ownership and the number of registered places at each location, the publisher has undertaken a research project to establish specific details on the facilities available. These include such things as, whether the home offers rooms with en-suite facilities, if there is a passenger lift and/or stair lift and is respite care offered. For homecare agencies we provide a comprehensive list of local providers with detailed contact information.

The Directory also features extensive and informative articles on how to go about choosing and making care provision. All homes and agencies listed in this Directory are registered with and regularly inspected by the Care Quality Commission (CQC). For more information on the CQC and their role please visit their website: www.cqc.org.uk

As publishers of this Directory we have a policy of not recommending any particular home or care agency or accept responsibility for any errors. The information in this guide is relevant to all people in need of care, whatever the disability or problem that has led them to need support, and we hope you find it helpful.

This Directory is a guide is for people who have care and support needs, their carer’s and people who are planning for their future care needs.

Care and support services, also known as social care services, help people who are in need of practical support due to illness, disability, old age or a low income. Social care services are available to everyone, regardless of their background. However, social care is subject to rules about your needs and ability. Services can also support the families or carers of people who receive social care.

Assessing your care and support needs

If you have care and support needs and find it difficult to look after yourself, the council may be able to advise you and provide you with some help. The best way to get help from the council is to ask for a care and support needs assessment. You can do this by contacting the council’s adult social services department.

When you get assessed, as a minimum you may be given information and signposting to other services, and ways that you might find funding to pay for them. However, if your needs meet the national eligibility criteria, the council will have to meet these needs.

What are the national eligibility criteria for care and support?

The eligibility threshold for adults with care and support needs is based on identifying how a person’s needs affect their ability to achieve relevant outcomes, and how this impacts on their wellbeing.

The council must consider whether the person’s needs:
- make them unable to achieve two or more specified outcomes
- as a result of being unable to meet these outcomes, there is likely to be a significant impact on the adult’s wellbeing

An adult’s needs are only eligible where they meet all three of these conditions.

Needs assessments and local authority funding

The first step will be to draw up a care and support plan, or in the case of a carer with eligible needs, a support plan. If you have eligible needs, the local authority will check that you normally live in their area. Social care is not free and you may have to contribute towards the cost of meeting your needs. Local authorities will do an assessment to see if you have to contribute and how much that would be.

The local authority should not refuse to meet eligible needs on the grounds of cost, although if there is more than one option, it is allowed to choose what it believes is the most cost effective one.

If your needs do not meet the national eligibility criteria, the local authority still has to give you information and advice on what support might be available in the community to support you.

Alternatively, you may want to consider funding your own care and support to help with the needs identified as a result of the assessment.

If you disagree with your needs assessment or the care and support plan, there are ways that decisions can be challenged or you can make a complaint (see ‘Making a complaint’).

Care and support plans

A care plan (sometimes called a care and support plan, or support plan if you’re a carer) sets out how your care and support needs will be met.

You should be fully involved in the preparation of your care plan, and you and anyone else you request should also get
The Meadows Residential Care Home caters for 25 residents across 20 bedrooms. It is a family run care home designed for people who like the intimacy and homely feel of a smaller care home.

Voted one of the top 20 care homes for 3 years running, 2016, 2017 & 2018

We have been voted one of the Top 20 Care Home’s in London 3 year’s running, 2016, 2017 and 2018, and are proud of our reputation for exceptional care. We strive for excellence in all that we do from the food we provide to the quality of our furnishings. Our incredible team go over and beyond to anticipate our residents every need.

Leaving home can be a challenging time and so to ensure the smoothest transition, The Meadows Residential Care Home boasts an authentic ‘home from home’ experience to help you settle. To move from home into any care environment is an extremely difficult decision to have to make. The reluctance to make the move, the uncertainty of what lies ahead and the fear of the unknown are all genuine and understandable concerns. Here at The Meadows, the staff are acutely aware of the problems and anxieties moving into care can bring. They will support your transition sensitively with compassion and understanding. All our staff have the knowledge, experience and skills of dealing with the issues and concerns surrounding such an important change, for which reason they will offer you constant support and guidance.

Our dedication to providing the best care depends on attracting and retaining the very best individuals to our team. The staff are the backbone of any care home and we search long and hard to find the most caring individuals to add to our staff. We are lucky to boast a long standing permanent workforce who always believe in putting our residents first. We feel that we’ve created a family in both our carers and residents and only believe in employing outstanding individuals who are able to meet our exceptionally high standards.

For some elderly people living in a care home away from their families can be difficult or lonely. This is where Totti, our resident dog, comes in. Dogs can provide relief for many issues facing the older population. Contact with a pet can alleviate depression, loneliness, and isolation and this has all been proven by our little chap Totti.

At The Meadows we offer support and a community for people who are lonely and who want to have their every need met in a safe, warm environment, whether that is an ear to listen, a hot cup of tea or a fluffy fresh towel.
a written copy. The care plan must set out:

- the needs identified by the assessment
- whether, and to what extent, the needs meet the eligibility criteria
- the needs that the authority is going to meet, and how it intends to do so
- for a person needing care, for which of the desired outcomes care and support could be relevant
- for a carer, the outcomes the carer wishes to achieve, and their wishes around providing care, work, education and recreation where support could be relevant
- the personal budget
- information and advice on what can be done to reduce the needs in question, and to prevent or delay the development of needs in the future
- where needs are being met via a direct payment (see ‘Direct payments and personal budgets’), the needs to be met via the direct payment and the amount and frequency of the payments

Your care plan should be individual to you, and you should be allowed to have as much involvement in the development of your plan as you wish.

Care and support should help you to:

- live independently
- have as much control over your life as possible
- participate in society on an equal level, with access to employment and a family life
- have the best possible quality of life
- keep as much dignity and respect as possible

It’s worth remembering that if there are different options that would meet your assessed needs equally well, the local authority can choose what it believes are the most cost-effective options.

Reviews of your care plan

Your care plan should be reviewed by social services within the first three months, and then at least annually.

The review looks at whether the outcomes identified in the care plan are being met. It should also review these goals to make sure they’re still appropriate (and for instance, that your care and support needs haven’t changed), and check that any risk assessments are up to date.

If, after the review, it is clear that things have changed that affect the detail within the care plan, then the local authority will conduct a revision of the plan. This may also involve a needs assessment and financial assessment.

If it’s decided that you no longer qualify for local authority support, you should receive written reasons for this, with information about other help available, including funding your own care.

Challenging your care plan

If you’re not happy with a care plan, the services provided, or the way an assessment was carried out, you will need to use the local authority’s complaints process.

It can sometimes be helpful to get support when you’re making a complaint. Sources of help can include an advocacy organisation.
Financial assessment for care and support services

If you have been assessed as needing care services, the council will carry out a financial assessment (a means test) to see if you should pay something towards the cost of your care.

This assessment looks at your income, including tax credits and some benefits after disability-related expenses (if it is including disability benefits). Disability-related expenditure can include items such as laundry, maintenance, respite care, and extra bedding.

If you need to go into a care home, the council must ensure you have enough money to spend on any personal items you might need, such as clothes and toiletries. This is known as a personal expenses allowance (PEA).

The council has the discretion to allow a larger personal expenses allowance – for example, if you have dependent children, or you are a temporary resident and also need to meet the costs of your own property. If you’d experience hardship if the allowance was not increased, you should complain about this to the council.

If you are receiving care in your own home (see ‘Care services in your home’), the council must ensure you have enough money left after charges to meet your living costs, such as rent and food. This is known as the minimum income guarantee (MIG). The levels are the equivalent of Income Support plus 25%, and the amounts are set out in regulations.

Capital, deprivation of capital and notional capital

The local authority will also look at your capital, such as savings and property. Currently, local authorities won’t contribute to the cost of your care if you have more than £23,250 in savings and property (known as ‘capital’). From April 2020, this threshold will rise alongside the introduction of the cap on care costs, so more people will be eligible for help sooner.

If you have more than this capital limit because of the value of your home, but you have a low income, the council may allow you to defer payment while you arrange to sell your home.

If the local authority thinks someone has deliberately got rid of capital to get financial assistance, it will treat that person as if they still had that capital. This could apply if you:

- spent money on a non-essential or luxury item
- gave money away
- gave away property or a share of property

The local authority will look at the reason why the money has been spent. Repaying a debt, for example, may justify your action, but it will depend on the individual circumstances.

The timing of the expenditure or disposal of capital is also important. If you didn’t know you needed care or you were likely to need care in the immediate future, the less likely it is that the local authority will view it as deliberate deprivation of capital.

If the local authority decides there has been deliberate deprivation of capital, you will be treated as if you still had the capital. This is known as notional capital. Notional capital is treated as gradually reducing over time to a point where you qualify for full help.

Top-ups and choice of services

If you are receiving local authority support with the cost of your care and you need to live in a certain place to receive that care, such as a care home, you have the right to choose where you live (choice of accommodation). The council must ensure you have at least one choice that is affordable from the amount identified in your personal budget, and ideally more than one. Some local authorities will have a list of preferred providers that they will usually recommend.

If you do not like the provider suggested, or you or the person you care for has a particular service in mind, you can ask the local authority to arrange it. The local authority has a duty to explain this right of choice to you. This free choice is subject to conditions:
• the preferred accommodation must be available
• the preferred accommodation must be suitable to meet your assessed needs
• it will not cost more than the amount set out in your personal budget
• the provider is willing to enter into a contract

You may choose a care home that is more expensive than the amount set out in your personal budget. If you do, a third party such as a relative or friend must be willing and able to pay the difference in cost for the likely duration of your stay. This is known as a top-up payment.

Where a person agrees to enter into a top-up payment, they will need to sign a written agreement with the local authority. This will set out what the costs are, how often they have to be paid, and what will happen if the person is no longer able to make the payment.

In some limited circumstances you can make this payment. This is if you enter into a deferred payment scheme, or you benefit from the value of your property being disregarded for the first 12 weeks of your care. The restrictions on paying this additional cost yourself will be lifted from April 2020, when the point at which means-tested support for care costs is increased.

The local authority can never require you to pay a top-up payment and must ensure there is at least one choice available within the amount set in your personal budget. Any arrangements to pay a top-up must involve your local authority, and should not be directly between you and your provider.

Direct payments and personal budgets

Direct payments and personal budgets are offered by your local authority to give you more flexibility over how your care and support is arranged and provided. They are given to both people with care and support needs, and also to carers.

A personal budget or direct payment will be created after your assessment by social services. If the council decides that you need any kind of support, you will receive a personal budget and can choose a direct payment instead of letting them arrange services for you.

If you aren’t able to, or don’t want to manage your own finances, it’s possible for another person to manage the direct payments on your behalf. Direct payments are voluntary, and you need to request or agree to have one.

Why choose a direct payment?

If you need care and support, this had in the past been provided direct from the council. Direct payments were introduced to give people more choice and control over how their care and support was arranged, to help them live more independently.

The direct payment is paid to you by the council so that you can decide how you want to meet your care and support needs. Many people choose to employ their own personal assistant, although there are many other ways direct payments can be used.

The full control over care and support that direct payments enables is an attractive option for many people. However, some people may be unsure whether they want or could manage a direct payment. In these cases, the council can provide you with a mixed package of care.

A mixed package of care may consist of a smaller direct payment, with some care and support arranged by the council or a provider. This allows people to try out direct payments, before deciding whether to move to a ‘full’ direct payment.

Who can have direct payments?

In most cases, if you or the person you’re looking after are assessed and social services decide you need support services, they must offer you the option of receiving direct payments to arrange care and support yourself, instead of having it arranged for you. If you want a direct payment, but do not wish to manage it yourself, a ‘nominated person’ can receive the direct payment and manage it on your behalf. If a person lacks capacity to request a direct payment, an ‘authorised person’ can request a direct payment and manage it on their behalf.

Managing direct payments

The council should set out your obligations and responsibilities in a direct payment agreement that you may be asked to sign. This could include:
• keeping records and accounting for how the money is spent to social services
• taking on the legal role of an employer if you’re using the payment to pay for a care worker; talk to the council about local organisations who can help manage the administration and other responsibilities of being an employer

Direct payments can only be spent on things that will meet the assessed needs of the person. If you spend a direct payment on something that doesn’t meet your needs, social services can recover the money from you or terminate the direct payment agreement.

Everyone who gets support from social services should have their care and support plan reviewed at least once a year. If someone’s needs have changed, they should contact social services to request a review of their care plan. If needs have changed in a way that affects the details within the current plan, the council may conduct another assessment of needs, or a financial assessment.

Social services can charge for care and support. This means that you may need to make a financial contribution towards your personal budget amount. Your local social services must tell you if you’ll need to contribute, and how much, and this will be detailed in your personal budget. Their charges must be in accordance with the law. Usually, the council will subtract any charge you need to pay from the personal budget amount, rather than asking you to pay.

You should be able to get help managing direct payments if you need it. Contact the social services department to find out what assistance they provide. Social services may give help directly or through a local direct payments support service.

Local voluntary organisations may also be able to provide tailored support, and Disability Rights UK has specialist expertise in direct payments (please visit: www.disabilityrightsuk.org).

Care homes

If you’re looking for a residential care home, there’s a huge variety of options available. There are permanent care homes for older people, homes for younger adults with disabilities, and homes for children.

Care homes may be privately owned or run by charities or councils. Some will be small care homes based in home-like domestic dwellings, while others will be based in large communal centres.

One of the first options you have to consider when choosing residential care is whether you need the care home to provide nursing care, or just standard personal care.

Personal care or nursing care?

Care homes for older people may provide personal care or nursing care. A care home registered to provide personal care will offer support, ensuring basic personal needs are taken care of. A care home providing personal care only can assist you with meals, bathing, going to the toilet and taking medication, if you need this sort of help.

Some residents may need nursing care, and some care homes are registered to provide this. These are often referred to as nursing homes. For example, a care home might specialise in certain types of disability or conditions such as dementia.

There are also residential care homes that provide care and support for people with, for example, severe physical disabilities, learning disabilities, brain injury resulting from an accident, or mental health problems. They can care for adults with more than one condition, and some homes will have expertise in providing care for adults with alcohol or drug dependency. These care homes may offer permanent residence or provide care for a temporary period.

Some care homes specialise in providing residential care for children with physical disabilities, learning disabilities or emotional problems.

Choice of care home

The law says that where the local authority is funding accommodation, it must allow a person entering residential care to choose which care home they would prefer, within reason.

Social services must first agree the home is suitable for your needs and it would not cost more than you would normally pay for a home that would meet those needs. You are free to make your own arrangements if you can afford the long-term cost. However, it is worth asking the local authority for a financial assessment, because it might pay some or all of your care costs.

Choosing a care home if you’re funding your own care

If you are funding your own care, you have a great deal of options, and you will need to do a lot of research on which care home provides the best options for you in terms of its cost, location, services, and a host of other potential factors.

One of the best places to start is by searching this Directory to see detailed information about registered homecare and residential care providers in the local area.

Choosing a care home if you’re having care provided by the local authority

After a needs assessment from social services, you will be provided with a care plan, which should make clear whether you need residential care and what other options, if any, might be available and most appropriate based on your needs.

Even if you’re unlikely to be eligible for financial help with residential care home fees, it could still be worth involving social services. The needs assessment, and information they provide, are likely to be very helpful in making decisions about care.

Tips on choosing a care home

- Check the most recent inspection report to see how well the care home is doing and if there is anything of concern. You can get inspection reports by searching for the care home on the Care Quality Commission website.
- Consider the location of a care home. Is the care home near family and friends? Are there shops, leisure or educational facilities in the area? Is the area noisy?
- Is the care home focused on the residents’ individual needs, or do they insist that residents adapt to their routine?
- What arrangements are there for visitors? Can residents come and go as they please, as far as it is safe to do so? Are staff able to help residents to go out? Are outings arranged?
- What involvement would you have in the care home? How would you communicate with staff? Are there any support groups or regular meetings?
- If safety and security are issues, what arrangements or supervision can the care home provide?
• Will the care home meet your specific religious, ethnic, cultural or social needs? Will the correct diet be provided? Will the right language be spoken? Will there be opportunities to participate in religious activities? Do they allow pets?
• When you are choosing accommodation it may be a lifelong decision, so you may want to think about planning for end of life care at the same time.
• You might also want to check what people who have used the care home say about it from online feedback and review services.
• Ask for a temporary stay in the care home before you decide. Temporary stays in care homes can also be arranged in certain circumstances, such as after a stay in hospital.

If you move into a care home

When you go into a care home, make sure the management and staff of the home know about your condition, disability and other needs. They may have some of this information already – for example, if the council has set up the placement after a care needs assessment.

Moving home can be unsettling at the best of times, so when you move into a care home, it’s good to have it planned in advance and have family or friends around you when you move to make you feel more comfortable.

Rights of care home residents

The Care Quality Commission (CQC) is the regulator of health and adult social care in England, whether it’s provided by the NHS, local authorities, private companies or voluntary organisations.

Under existing rules, independent healthcare and adult social services must be registered with the CQC. NHS providers, such as hospitals and ambulance services, must also be registered.

The registration of organisations reassures the public when they receive a care service or treatment. It also enables the CQC to check that organisations are continuing to meet CQC standards.

Standards for care homes are outlined on the CQC website. These standards are underpinned by regulations governing the quality and safety of services.

The regulations are enforceable by law – the CQC can enforce fines, public warnings, or even suspend or close a service if they believe people’s basic rights or safety are at risk.

Care services in your home

Homecare comes in many forms and has many names used to describe it, including home help, care attendants and ‘carers’ (not to be confused with unpaid family or friends who care for you).

Homecare can suit you if you need:
• personal care, such as washing or dressing
• housekeeping or domestic work, such as vacuuming
• cooking or preparing meals
• nursing and health care
• companionship

Homecare can be very flexible, in order to meet your needs, and the same person or agency may be able to provide some or all of these options for the duration of your care:
• long-term 24-hour care
• short breaks for an unpaid family carer
• emergency care
• day care
• sessions ranging from 15-minute visits to 24-hour assistance and everything in between

See the ‘Homecare’ section in this Directory for a list of homecare services and agencies.

If you believe that you might benefit from some help at home, the first thing to do is to contact the council’s social services department to ask for an assessment of your care and support needs.

If you are eligible for homecare services, the council may provide or arrange the help themselves. Alternatively, you can arrange your own care, funded by the local authority, through direct payments or a personal budget.

If you have chosen direct payments or a personal budget, or you aren’t eligible for local authority help and want to get care privately, you can arrange it in several different ways.

Independent homecare agencies

If you use an independent homecare agency, you or the person you’re looking after has to find the care agency and pay them.

The agency will provide a service through a trained team of care workers, which means you may not always have the same person visiting your home, although the agency will do its best to take your choices into account. Independent homecare providers are regulated by the Care Quality Commission (CQC). Homecare agencies must meet CQC’s national minimum standards and regulations in areas such as training and record-keeping. The CQC has the power to inspect agencies and enforce standards. Homecare agencies must vet homecare workers before engaging them by taking up references and carrying out Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) checks on potential employees. Homecare agencies can also:

- take over the burden of being an employer – for example, payroll, training, disciplinary issues and insurance
- train their homecare workers through national qualifications and service-specific training
- replace workers when they are ill, on holiday or resign
- put things right when they go wrong

An agency will want to see you and/or the person you’re looking after so that they can assess your needs. This also means that a joint decision can be made about the most appropriate type of care and support.

You can find out more from the UK Homecare Association. Please visit their website: www.ukhca.co.uk

Hiring a personal assistant

You can hire a ‘personal assistant’ to act as a homecare worker for you.

Personal assistants can offer you all that you’ll get from an agency worker, but you’ll also get the continuity, familiarity and ongoing relationship with your assistant.

However, if you employ a personal assistant, you will then have the legal responsibility of an employer. This will include arranging cover for their illness and holidays.

Homecare from charities

Charities such as Age UK and Carers Trust can provide home help and domestic assistance services. The Carers Trust supports carers by giving them a break from their caring responsibilities through homecare services.

Making a complaint

There may be times when you want to make a complaint about the services you have received. Making a complaint through the right channels could result in a better outcome for you, and may help improve things for other people, too. Please don’t be reluctant to come forward if you feel something is wrong.

Complaints about assessments

If you, or someone you’re looking after if you’re a carer, wants to complain about a decision made by social services, you can use the statutory complaints system. If you want to complain about your local authority, you should do so in writing or verbally to the complaints manager within 12 months.

The council should acknowledge it has received your complaint within three working days. It will inform you of how long your complaint is likely to take to investigate. The local authority must respond fully within six months, unless a different time period has been discussed and agreed with you.

Each local authority is responsible for arrangements for dealing with complaints, so contact the council for a copy of their complaints procedure.

Taking your complaint further

If you are not satisfied with the response you receive from the council, you are entitled to ask the independent Local Government Ombudsman (LGO) to investigate. The Ombudsman can investigate complaints about local councils. Further information is available on the LGO website: www.lgo.org.uk/adult-social-care

Complaints about care homes or care services

You, or the person you’re looking after, may have a complaint about a residential care home. A complaint could be about the quality of care provided or the fees charged. There are a number of ways you can make a complaint.

If the care is funded or arranged by a local authority, that local authority is responsible for it, even if it is provided in an independent care home. You should complain to the local authority and the Local Government Ombudsman (as detailed above) if you are not satisfied with the response you receive.

If you are funding or arranging your own care, you should make a complaint to the care home operator. The law says all care homes must have an appropriate complaints procedure. If you’re worried about doing so, you can complain directly to the regulator responsible for all care homes and regulated care services instead.

Care home and care services regulation

At present, the Care Quality Commission (CQC) is responsible for regulating care homes and all regulated care services. It monitors, inspects and regulates services to make sure they meet fundamental standards of quality and safety. Its role is to ensure the services comply with regulations and quality standards. If you have experienced poor care or know that poor care is being provided somewhere, you can report it to the CQC, anonymously if you wish. You can also tell them when you have received good care. Please see ‘Useful contacts’ in this Directory for their contact details.

Local authority complaints

If the council is responsible for making a placement, creating a care plan or arranging care for you, or someone you are looking after, it is possible to use their statutory social services complaints system to make a complaint. If the local authority complaints procedure does not resolve the complaint, it may be possible to use other complaints methods, such as the LGO. If you do complain to the CQC or local authority, they should liaise with the care home or care service to ensure that you receive a co-ordinated response.

Who to complain to if you’re paying for your own care

If you’re a ‘self-funder’ – paying for your own care costs – you can take the complaints to the LGO if you’re not satisfied with the outcome of the initial direct complaint to the care provider, or the response from the local authority. But remember, the complaint can only be made to the local authority if they had a hand in helping you arrange your care.

Complaints about abuse or neglect

Some of the most serious complaints involve alleged physical or psychological abuse or neglect within the care home. If you believe this may have occurred, contact the council as quickly as possible. Each council has a safeguarding team responsible for responding to allegations, even if the local authority wasn’t involved in arranging residential care. The local authority will liaise with the police and the CQC if appropriate.
